Much interest is felt in "The Cup and the Lip" by all classes, and the theater will be full.

Miss Laura Keene has given new evidence of her tact as a manager, by conforming her late piece to the taste of the public. The "Seven Sons" have ceased to violate earnest national feeling; and, although it may be regretted that they are on the whole such dull boys, the circumstances by which they are surrounded are brilliant enough to make them attractive, just as a rich fool passes with the world, and need never call out for friends. It may be said, moreover, that while it only requires talent to give offense, to make a graceful apology calls for a high order of genius. Miss Keene has cov-

CORONERS' CASES .- Yesterday Coroner Schirmer

CHARGED WITH FORGING HIS WIFE'S WILL.—Yesterday William Dale, a tailor, residing at No. 76 Greene street, was arrested on the charge of having offered for probate a forged will of Elizabeth Bale, formerly his wife. It appears that previous to Mrs. Dale's death, about seven years ago, they lived at Morrisania, and that since her death up to the present time no will of hers was ever produced. The will now produced makes over nearly the whole of the property to the prisoner, and appoints him sole executor. Parties acquainted with the handwriting of the alleged testator and executor, prosounce the signature statched to the will to be in the handwriting of the latter. Dale now lives with a woman of loose character in Greene street, and is said to keep a house of had repute. Justice Osborne committed the accused in default of $1,000.

"Seven Sons" is Mr. James Gordon Bennett. He has certainly never shown a greater capacity for ground and lofty tumbling in all his career as public pantaloon, than the somersaults of the Sons develop. The acting in the thing is not wholly disgusting, as the public may see any time the next six months, but until important reforms are effected in the discipline of the coryphées they will afford a more lugubrious spectacle of physical decrepitude than our salubrious climate would seem to warrant.

Toe cheerful beauty of Wallack's new theater has done for the management what the new play would alone have failed to do, and has surrounded the capital alone have failed to do, and has surrounded the coryoling light of the extens?
